

Contents

|                                  |      |
|----------------------------------|------|
| Contributors . . . . .    | xi   |
| Preface. . . . .          | xvii |
| Acknowledgments . . . . . | xix  |

Section I. Introduction

|                                                                             |   |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------|---|
| Why Tomato Biotechnology? A Potential to Accelerate the Applications |   |
| Donald J. Nevins . . . . .                                                  | 3 |

Section II. Genetic Resources

|                                                                                          |    |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| Genetic Resources in Lycopersicon                                          |    |
| Charles M. Rick . . . . .                                                                | 17 |
| Introgression of Solanum lycopersicoides Germplasm                         |    |
| Joseph W. DeVerna, Roger T. Chetelat, Charles M. Rick, andM. Allen Stevens . . . . . | 27 |
| Molecular Markers for the Nuclear Genome of Tomato                                |    |
| Steven D. Tanksley and Robert Bernatzky . . . . .                                        | 37 |
| Wild Sources of High Soluble Solids in Tomato                                     |    |
| John D. Hewitt and Thomas C. Garvey . . . . .                                            | 45 |
| Summary: Genetic Resources                                                        |    |
| M. Allen Stevens . . . . .                                                               | 55 |

Section III. Tissue Culture Techniques and Applications

|                                                                                                    |    |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| Somaclonal Variation                                                                        |    |
| David A. Evans . . . . .                                                                           | 59 |
| Construction and Characterization of Somatic Hybrids in Lycopersicon                 |    |
| Mary A. O'Connell and Maureen R. Hanson . . . . .                                                  | 71 |
| Characterization of Somatic Hybrid Plants Between Tomato and Solanum lycopersicoides |    |
| Patrick P. Moore and Kenneth C. Sink . . . . .                                                     | 81 |
| In Vitro Breeding for Disease Resistance in Tomato                                          |    |
| Elias A. Shahin and Rosa Spivey . . . . .                                                          | 89 |

|                                                                                                                                                            |     |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Stress Adaptations in Cultured Tomato Cells                                                                                                         |     |
| Lisa C. Staraci, Bruce R. Thomas, Connie A. Wainwright,Ellen Marsh, John M. Rejda, John C. Steffens, Andree L. Genez, andBill G. Williams. . . . . | 99  |
| Heavy Metal Tolerance in Tomato Cells                                                                                                               |     |
| John C. Steffens and Bill Williams . . . . .                                                                                                               | 109 |
| Summary: Tissue Culture Techniques and Applications                                                                                                 |     |
| D. Pratt . . . . .                                                                                                                                         | 119 |
| Section IV. Adaptation to Abiotic and Biotic Stress                                                                                                 |     |
| Genetic Advances in Salt Tolerance                                                                                                                  |     |
| Richard A. Jones . . . . .                                                                                                                                 | 125 |
| Proteinase Inhibitors in Wild Tomato Species                                                                                                        |     |
| Gregory Pearce, David Liljegren, and Clarence A. Ryan . . . . .                                                                                            | 139 |
| Mechanisms of Arthropod Resistance in Tomatoes                                                                                                      |     |
| George G. Kennedy, James Nienhuis, and Tim Helentjaris . . . . .                                                                                           | 145 |
| Molecular Analysis of Spontaneous Race Change in Xanthomonas campestris pv. vesicatoria                                               |     |
| Brian Kearney and Brian J. Staskawicz . . . . .                                                                                                            | 155 |
| Summary: Adaptation to Abiotic and Biotic Stress                                                                                                    |     |
| D.G. Gilchrist . . . . .                                                                                                                                   | 163 |
| Section V. Transformation Techniques and Applications                                                                                               |     |
| Transformation of Tomato                                                                                                                            |     |
| Maarten Koornneef, Maarten Jongsma, Rob Weide, Pim Zabel, andJacques Hille . . . . .                                                                   | 169 |
| Synthetic Linkages and Genetic Stability in Transgenic Plants:Implications for Breeding                                                        |     |
| Richard A. Jorgensen . . . . .                                                                                                                             | 179 |
| Mobilization of the Maize Transposable Element Ac in Tomato                                                                                  |     |
| John Yoder, Francois Belzile, Kevin Alpert, Joe Palys, andRichard Michelmore . . . . .                                                                 | 189 |
| Efficient Transformation of Tomato and the Introduction and Expressionof a Gene for Herbicide Tolerance                                        |     |
| JoAnne J. Fillatti, Jack Kiser, Burt Rose, and Luca Comai . . . . .                                                                                        | 199 |
| Summary: Transformation Techniques and Applications                                                                                                 |     |
| J. Yoder . . . . .                                                                                                                                         | 211 |
| Section VI. Plastid and Mitochondrial Genomes                                                                                                       |     |
| Tomato Plastid and Mitochondrial Genomes: Change and Conservation                                                                                   |     |
| Maureen R. Hanson and Phillip M. McClean . . . . .                                                                                                         | 215 |

Genomic Organization and Evolution of the RBCS and CAB Gene Families in Tomato and Other Higher Plants

Eran Pichersky, Robert Bernatzky, Steven D. Tanksley, Vedpal S. Malik, and Anthony R. Cashmore . . . . . 229

Plastid and Nuclear Gene Expression During Tomato Fruit Formation

Wilhelm Gruissem, Kris Callan, Jeannie Lynch, Thianda Manzara, Michael Meighan, Jonathan Narita, Birgit Piechulla, Mamoru Sugita, Margo Thelander, and Leslie Wanner . . . . . 239

Summary: Plastid and Mitochondrial Genomes

B.R. Thomas . . . . . 251

Section VII. Reproductive Biology

Identification of Genes Specifically Expressed in Reproductive Organs of Tomato

Sheila McCormick, Alan Smith, Charles Gasser, Kim Sachs, Maud Hinchee, Robert Horsch, and Robert Fraley . . . . . 255

Style Glycoproteins of Lycopersicon peruvianum and Nicotiana glauca Associated with Self-incompatibility are Homologous

Edwina C. Cornish, Shaio-Lim Mau, Marilyn A. Anderson, Angela Atkinson, Elizabeth G. Williams, Richard J. Simpson, Ahmed Kheyr-Pour, and Adrienne E. Clarke . . . . . 267

Summary: Reproductive Biology

J.W. DeVerna . . . . . 275

Section VIII. Fruit Ripening

The Biochemistry of Fruit Ripening

Colin Brady, Barry McGlasson, and Jim Speirs . . . . . 279

The Effects of the alc Mutant on Tomato Ripening

Martha A. Mutschler and Mary Guttieri . . . . . 289

Polygalacturonase Gene Expression in Ripening Tomato Fruit

Alan B. Bennett and Dean DellaPenna . . . . . 299

Expression and Function of Ripening Genes

Donald Grierson, Martin J. Maunders, Michael J. Holdsworth, John Ray, Colin Bird, Phillipe Moureau, Wolfgang Schuch, Adrian Slater, Julie E. Knapp, and Gregory A. Tucker . . . . . 309

Summary: Fruit Ripening

S.F. Yang . . . . . 325

Index. . . . . 329