Foreword	ix
Introduction	xi
Acknowledgements	xv
1. Introduction to lethal yellowing
Lethal yellowing
J. Arellano and C. Oropeza	1
A brief history of lethal yellowing research
S. Eden-Green	17
2. Aspects of the disease
Mycoplasmalike organisms as pathogens of coconut palms
P. Jones, A. Mpunami and A. Tymon	35
Lethal yellowing vector studies. I. Methods of experimental transmission
F.W. Howard	43
Lethal yellowing vector studies. II. Status of Myndus crudus host plant studies
F.W. Howard	59
Physiology and biochemistry of lethal yellowing-affected Cocos nucifera L. palms
C. Oropeza, L. Alpizar, I. Islas-Flores, A. Escamilla and J. Santamaría	65
3. Diagnosis and detection
Detection and diagnosis of lethal yellowing: conventional methods and molecular techniques
N.A. Harrison, P.A. Richardson and J.H. Tsai	79

Practical use of DNA probes for the detection of lethal yellowing of Cocos nucifera L. in México

J.A. Escamilla, N.A. Harrison, H. Nuñez, L. Alpizar,
I. Cordova, I. Islas-Flores and C. Oropeza

4. Control of lethal yellowing

Integrated pest management for the control of lethal yellowing: quarantine, cultural practices and optimal use of hybrids

B.O. Been

101

5. Genetic resources and improvement

Reproductive biology of coconut palms

G.R. Ashburner

111

Coconut variation and genetic resources

D. Zizumbo and J. Arellano

123

Safe movement of coconut germplasm

M. Dollet

139

The genetics of durable resistance to lethal yellowing disease

H.C. Harries

149

Genetic markers for coconut palms

G.R. Ashburner

173

Production and advantages of coconut hybrids

B.O. Been

187

6. In vitro tissue culture

A brief history of coconut tissue culture

J. Blake

195

Initiation of callogenesis in coconut palm (Cocos nucifera L.)

R. Hornung

203

Initiation of somatic embryogenesis in coconut (Cocos nucifera L.)

J. Buffard-Morel, J.L. Verdeil, S. Dussert, C. Magnaval,

C. Huet and F. Grosdemange

217

7. Future directions for the coconut industry

The Coconut Industry Board of Jamaica

B.O. Been

225

Coconut product diversification

P.G. Punchihewa
